1. Portfolio Management with On-Going Comprehensive Financial Planning

This fiduciary service includes both financial planning and portfolio management services.

Clients receive approximately 6-9 formal meetings in the first year, then follow a 3 meeting per year cycle thereafter. We spend time discovering what is important to them, design a plan with defined action steps and work throughout the year to complete action steps. We check on progress towards goals, see that "To Dos" have been completed, discuss behaviors and barriers to success and talk about any new areas of planning that have come up since the last meeting.

Communication between planner and client is paramount to the overall success of any plan, therefore there is no limit to the number of meetings, calls or contact. Clients may request meetings in-person or virtually online.

The financial plan may address any or all the areas of financial planning listed below as detailed in the client agreement but focus on these areas: retirement planning and projections, pension and Social Security optimization, tax return preparation, strategic tax planning and projections, tax-efficient retirement distributions, estate planning document and beneficiary review, insurance and benefits review in addition to portfolio management.

Clients get access to a planner to help implement recommendations, monitor the plan, have regular client meetings, adapt the plan to changing circumstances in the client's life, and ensure the plan is up to date. The invoice will specify the services performed for the fee.

Our firm manages investment portfolios and provides ongoing advice for assets held away. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client's circumstances are established, we develop an investment policy with an asset allocation target and create and manage a portfolio based on that policy and allocation target. During our data-gathering process, we determine the client's individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs.

Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the client (e.g., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations. Fees pertaining to this service are outlined in Item 5 of this brochure.

As a fiduciary, our firm and its associate has a duty of utmost good faith to act solely in the best interests of each client.

However, it is difficult to remove all possible conflicts of interests. A conflict may exist between Avea and the interests of the client. The client is under no obligation to act upon the advisor's recommendation, and if the client elects to act on any of the recommendations, does not have to do so with the assistance of advisor.

2. Six-Month Comprehensive Financial Planning

This fiduciary service includes only financial planning (no portfolio management services) and is a 6-month engagement.

Clients receive approximately 3 upfront meetings and then monthly meetings for 6 months. We spend time discovering what is important to them, design a plan with defined action steps and work to complete action steps. We check on progress towards goals, see that "To Dos" have been completed, discuss behaviors and barriers to success and talk about any new areas of planning that have come up since the last meeting. Fees pertaining to this service are outlined in Item 5 of this brochure.

Potential Planning areas:

Financial Freedom Planning

- Oftentimes the focus of a financial planning firm is on retirement. Our goal is to help our clients live their best lives and achieve financial freedom. Retirement may not always be the goal. Through planning and implementation, our clients will arrive at a place where they will have the freedom of choice, to change careers, to start a business, to take mini-retirements and travel with their family, whatever a client chooses to do.
- Includes projections of the likelihood of achieving financial goals. For situations where projections show less than the desired results, we may make recommendations, including those that may impact the original projections by adjusting certain variables (e.g., working longer, saving more, spending less, taking more risk with investments).
- If a client is near or in retirement, advice may be given on appropriate distribution and Social Security maximization strategies to minimize the likelihood of running out of money or having to alter spending during your retirement years.

College Funding Planning and Saving for College

- Help families make smarter college buying decisions.
- Save on and for the cost of college.
- Coordinate a 4-year funding plan, so that their student can graduate on time with no or manageable student loan debt, all without detracting from their parent's life goals.
- We use the College Pre-Approval™ process to provide a detailed affordability and funding analysis and understand the family budget available for college for all students in a family. This will also enable the student to start down the path of their own successful financial life without the heavy burden of unmanageable student debt. We evaluate financial aid eligibility and tri-generational planning.

Investment Analysis

- Determine a client's goals, current situation, risk tolerance
- Develop an asset allocation strategy, possible investment vehicles, as well as assist in establishing an investment account at a selected custodian.
- The strategies and types of investments we may recommend are further discussed in Item 8.

Net Worth

- We will determine your net worth.

Cash Flow and Debt Management

- Review of income and expenses to determine current surplus or deficit
- Advise on how any surplus should be used or how to reduce expenses if they exceed your income, which debts to pay off first based on factors such as the interest rate of the debt and any income tax ramifications, recommend an appropriate cash reserve, review of accounts (such as money market funds) for such reserves, plus strategies to save desired amounts.

Employee Benefits Optimization

- Analyze whether you are maximizing your employee benefits. If you are a business owner, consider and/or recommend the various benefit programs that can be structured to meet both business and personal financial goals.

Estate and Incapacity Planning

- Analyze current estate plan, which may include a will, powers of attorney, trusts and other related documents
- Recommend that you maintain a relationship with a qualified attorney to help you initiate, update, or complete estate planning activities.

Business Planning

- Provide consulting services for clients who currently operate a business, are considering starting a business, or are planning an exit from their current business to assess your current situation, identify your objectives, and develop a plan aimed at achieving your goals.

Insurance and Risks

- Review existing policies to ensure proper coverage for life, health, disability, long-term care, liability, home and automobile and analyze your exposure to major risks that could have a significant adverse impact on your financial picture.
- Advice may be provided on ways to minimize risks and weigh the costs of purchasing insurance versus the benefits of doing so and, likewise, the potential cost of self-insuring.

Social Security Maximization Planning

- Collect information pertaining to a client's current financial situation, their financial and personal goals, work plans, marital status and the state of their health as these areas have the greatest impact on recommendations for Social Security claiming strategies.
- Maximize a client's Social Security benefits by utilizing any available strategy and educate the client of the impact of different possible claiming strategies to help them make better decisions.

Tax Planning Strategies

- Evaluate ways to minimize current and future income taxes, make recommendations on which type of accounts or specific investments should be owned based in part on their "tax efficiency," remembering there is always the possibility of future changes to federal, state or local tax laws and rates that may impact your situation
- We recommend that you maintain a relationship with a qualified tax professional.

Personal Coaching

- Success in our client's personal lives is instrumental to success in their financial lives. We take time to discuss financial behaviors, interpersonal/marital relationships, health and wellness, careers, etc. and suggest strategies to improve in these areas if needed or desired.

Financial Education

- We offer basic financial literacy education to the children of our clients. In our meeting schedule, we include them in the planning process to the extent the parents and children wish and will discuss the importance of a strong financial foundation based upon saving and investing, credit and debt management, cash flow, tax planning, and estate planning.

3. Portfolio Management Only

We manage individually tailored investment portfolios. Our firm provides ongoing advice to a client regarding the investment of client funds based on the individual needs of the client. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client's particular circumstances are established, we develop a client's personal investment policy or an investment plan with an asset allocation target and create and manage a portfolio based on that policy and allocation target. During our data-gathering process, we determine the client's individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs. We may also review and discuss a client's prior investment history, as well as family composition and background. Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the client (e.g., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations. Fees pertaining to this service are outlined in Item 5 of this brochure. Portfolio Advisory Services - We offer portfolio advisory services through the use of third-party money managers ("Outside Managers") for portfolio management services. We assist clients in selecting an appropriate allocation model, completing the Outside Manager's investor profile questionnaire, interacting with the Outside Manager and reviewing the Outside Manager. Our review process and analysis of outside managers is further discussed in Item 8 of this Form ADV Part 2A. Additionally, we will meet with the client on a periodic basis to discuss changes in their personal or financial situation, suitability, and any new or revised restrictions to be applied to the account. Fees pertaining to this service are outlined in Item 5 of this brochure.

4. Power Session

This service is available for clients who do not want or need analysis of their entire financial life (as they would receive with the Portfolio Management with On-Going Comprehensive Financial Planning service). These targeted sessions may include the same areas of financial planning that were mentioned above. The scope of the agreement and fee will be determined before work begins, but typically involves two, one-hour, in-person meetings and an additional hour of research, analysis and report writing. The following categories are often covered in our Project Financial Plan: College Funding, Investments, Risk Management, Estate Planning, Tax Planning, Retirement Planning, etc. Fees pertaining to this service are outlined in Item 5 of this brochure.

5. Corporate Retirement Plans

We provide investment advisory services to the retirement plan sponsor and to participants and trustees of the retirement plan.

Fees pertaining to this service are outlined in Item 5 of this brochure.

6. Educational Seminars and Speaking Engagements

We may provide seminars on an "as announced" basis for groups seeking general knowledge surrounding personal finance or for marketing purposes. These seminars are purely educational in nature and do not involve the sale of any investment products. Information presented will not be based on any individual person's need, nor does Avea provide individualized investment advice to attendees during these seminars. Topics may cover Social Security, College Funding, Financial Planning, Saving and Investing, Retirement Readiness and other personal financial topics. Fees pertaining to this service are outlined in Item 5 of this brochure.

8. Personal Tax Return Preparation

We provide tax preparation services for our clients to assist with the filing of federal and state tax returns for individuals and businesses. We may ask for an explanation or clarification of some items, but we will not audit or otherwise verify client data. The client is responsible for the completeness and accuracy of information used to prepare the returns. Our responsibility is to prepare the returns in accordance with applicable tax laws. We will utilize the services of a third-party accounting, bookkeeping, and tax preparation firm to facilitate the preparation and filing of your tax return and we will work with you and the third party to gather the necessary information as part of this service.

We may observe opportunities for tax savings that require planning or changes in the way the client handles some transactions. While an engagement for tax return preparation does not include significant tax planning services, we will share any ideas we have with you and discuss terms for any additional work that may be required to implement those ideas.

9. Held-Away Account Management

We provide an additional service for accounts not directly held in our custody, but where we do have discretion, to implement tax-efficient asset location and opportunistic rebalancing strategies on behalf of the client. These are primarily 401(k) accounts, Health Savings Accounts (HSAs), and other assets we do not hold at our custodian. We review the available investment options in these accounts, monitor them, and rebalance and implement our strategies in the same way we do other accounts.

Client Tailored Services and Client Imposed Restrictions

We offer variations of comprehensive planning services to all our clients. However, specific client financial plans and their implementation are dependent upon the client Investment Policy Statement which outlines each client's current situation (income, tax levels, and risk tolerance levels) and is used to construct a client specific plan to aid in the selection of a portfolio that matches restrictions, needs, and targets.

Wrap Fee Programs

We do not participate in wrap fee programs.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

Please note, unless a client has received the firm's disclosure brochure (this document) at least 48 hours prior to signing the investment advisory contract, the investment advisory contract may be terminated by the client within five (5) business days of signing the contract without incurring any advisory fees and without penalty. How we are paid depends on the type of advisory service we are performing.

Pursuant to WAC 460-24A-106(1)(b)(ii) and WAC 460-24A-135, in all instances, Adviser will send the client a written invoice, including the fee, the formula used to calculate the fee, the fee calculation itself, the time period covered by the fee, and, if applicable, the amount of assets under management on which the fee was based. Also, the Adviser will include the name of the custodian(s) on your fee invoice. The Adviser will send these to the client concurrent with the request for payment or payment of the Adviser’s advisory fees. We urge the client to compare this information with the fees listed in the account statement.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not offer performance-based fees.

Item 7: Types of Clients

We provide financial planning and portfolio management services to individuals and high net-worth individuals.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

To analyze Social Security optimization strategies, we use software in conjunction with the advisor's personal experience and understanding of Social Security claiming strategies to maximize benefits. The strategies that are presented may not ultimately maximize client's benefits due to extenuating circumstances such as changes in Social Security law, changes in client's health, early death of a client or spouse, unknown market events that may affect client's future financial position or a number of other unpredictable conditions.

When clients have us complete an Investment Analysis (described in Item 4 of this brochure) as part of their financial plan, our primary methods of investment analysis are fundamental, technical, cyclical and charting analysis.

Fundamental analysis involves analyzing individual companies and their industry groups, such as a company's financial statements, details regarding the company's product line, the experience, and expertise of the company's management, and the outlook for the company's industry. The resulting data is used to measure the true value of the company's stock compared to the current market value. The risk of fundamental analysis is that information obtained may be incorrect and the analysis may not provide an accurate estimate of earnings, which may be the basis for a stock's value. If securities prices adjust rapidly to new information, utilizing fundamental analysis may not result in favorable performance.

Technical analysis involves using chart patterns, momentum, volume, and relative strength in an effort to pick sectors that may outperform market indices. However, there is no assurance of accurate forecasts or that trends will develop in the markets we follow. In the past, there have been periods without discernible trends and similar periods will presumably occur in the future. Even where major trends develop, outside factors like government intervention could potentially shorten them.

Furthermore, one limitation of technical analysis is that it requires price movement data, which can translate into price trends sufficient to dictate a market entry or exit decision. In a trendless or erratic market, a technical method may fail to identify trends requiring action. In addition, technical methods may overreact to minor price movements, establishing positions contrary to overall price trends, which may result in losses. Finally, a technical trading method may under perform other trading methods when fundamental factors dominate price moves within a given market.

Cyclical analysis is a type of technical analysis that involves evaluating recurring price patterns and trends based upon business cycles. Economic/business cycles may not be predictable and may have many fluctuations between long term expansions and contractions. The lengths of economic cycles may be difficult to predict with accuracy and therefore the risk of cyclical analysis is the difficulty in predicting economic trends and consequently the changing value of securities that would be affected by these changing trends.

Charting analysis involves the gathering and processing of price and volume information for a particular security. This price and volume information is analyzed using mathematical equations. The resulting data is then applied to graphing charts, which is used to predict future price movements based on price patterns and trends. Charts may not accurately predict future price movements. Current prices of securities may not reflect all information about the security and day-to-day changes in market prices of securities may follow random patterns and may not be predictable with any reliable degree of accuracy.

Third-Party Money Manager – First Ascent

We may refer clients to third-party money managers. Through these arrangements, the client will then enter into an advisory agreement with the third-party money manager authorizing them to assist and advise the client in establishing investment objectives and develop an investment strategy to meet those objectives by identifying appropriate investments and monitoring such investments. In consideration for such, the third-party money manager will receive an investment advisory fee, typically billed quarterly in advance, either a flat fee or a fee based on the account asset value at the end of the previous quarter. Avea will also assist in the development of the initial policy recommendations manage the ongoing client relationship. Avea meets with the third-party money managers from time to time to perform due diligence over those advisors and will ensure that all third-party money managers recommended to clients will be either an investment advisor registered with the appropriate state securities commission, the Securities and Exchange Commission, or exempt from such registrations. The client, prior to entering into an agreement with a third-party money manager selected by Avea, will be provided with that manager's Brochure. In addition, Avea and its client will agree in writing that the client's account will be managed by that selected third- party money manager on a discretionary basis.

Our analysis of outside managers involves the examination of the experience, expertise, investment philosophies, and past performance of the outside managers to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We monitor the manager's underlying holdings, strategies, concentrations, and leverage as part of our overall periodic risk assessment. Additionally, as part of our due-diligence process, we survey the manager's compliance and business enterprise risks. A risk of investing with an outside manager who has been successful in the past is that he/she may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in an outside manager's portfolio. There is also a risk that a manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the portfolio, making it a less suitable investment for our clients. Moreover, as we do not control the manager's daily business and compliance operations, we may be unaware of the lack of internal controls necessary to prevent business, regulatory or reputational deficiencies.

Passive Investment Management

We primarily practice passive investment management. Passive investing involves building portfolios that are comprised of various distinct asset classes. The asset classes are weighted in a manner to achieve a desired relationship between correlation, risk and return. Funds that are passive capture the returns of the desired asset classes. The funds that are used to build passive portfolios are typically index mutual funds or exchange traded funds.

Passive investment management is characterized by low portfolio expenses (i.e. the funds inside the portfolio have low internal costs), minimal trading costs (due to infrequent trading activity), and relative tax efficiency (because the funds inside the portfolio are tax efficient and turnover inside the portfolio is minimal).

In contrast, active management involves a single manager or managers who employ some method, strategy or technique to construct a portfolio that is intended to generate returns that are greater than the broader market or a designated benchmark.

Material Risks Involved

All investing strategies we offer involve risk and may result in a loss of your original investment which you should be prepared to bear. Many of these risks apply equally to stocks, bonds, commodities and any other investment or security. Material risks associated with our investment strategies are listed below.

Market Risk: Market risk involves the possibility that an investment's current market value will fall because of a general market decline, reducing the value of the investment regardless of the operational success of the issuer's operations or its financial condition.

Strategy Risk: The Adviser's investment strategies and/or investment techniques may not work as intended.

Small and Medium Cap Company Risk: Securities of companies with small and medium market capitalizations are often more volatile and less liquid than investments in larger companies. Small and medium cap companies may face a greater risk of business failure, which could increase the volatility of the client's portfolio.

Turnover Risk: At times, the strategy may have a portfolio turnover rate that is higher than other strategies. A high portfolio turnover would result in correspondingly greater brokerage commission expenses and may result in the distribution of additional capital gains for tax purposes. These factors may negatively affect the account's performance.

Limited Markets: Certain securities may be less liquid (harder to sell or buy) and their prices may at times be more volatile than at other times. Under certain market conditions we may be unable to sell or liquidate investments at prices we consider reasonable or favorable, or find buyers at any price.

Concentration Risk: Certain investment strategies focus on particular asset-classes, industries, sectors or types of investment. From time to time these strategies may be subject to greater risks of adverse developments in such areas of focus than a strategy that is more broadly diversified across a wider variety of investments.

Interest Rate Risk: Bond (fixed income) prices generally fall when interest rates rise, and the value may fall below par value or the principal investment. The opposite is also generally true: bond prices generally rise when interest rates fall. In general, fixed income securities with longer maturities are more sensitive to these price changes. Most other investments are also sensitive to the level and direction of interest rates.

Legal or Legislative Risk: Legislative changes or Court rulings may impact the value of investments, or the securities' claim on the issuer's assets and finances.

Inflation: Inflation may erode the buying-power of your investment portfolio, even if the dollar value of your investments remains the same.

Risks Associated with Securities

Apart from the general risks outlined above which apply to all types of investments, specific securities may have other risks.

Commercial Paper is, in most cases, an unsecured promissory note that is issued with a maturity of 270 days or less. Being unsecured the risk to the investor is that the issuer may default.

Common stocks may go up and down in price quite dramatically, and in the event of an issuer's bankruptcy or restructuring could lose all value. A slower-growth or recessionary economic environment could have an adverse effect on the price of all stocks.

Corporate Bonds are debt securities to borrow money. Generally, issuers pay investors periodic interest and repay the amount borrowed either periodically during the life of the security and/or at maturity. Alternatively, investors can purchase other debt securities, such as zero coupon bonds, which do not pay current interest, but rather are priced at a discount from their face values and their values accrete over time to face value at maturity. The market prices of debt securities fluctuate depending on such factors as interest rates, credit quality, and maturity. In general, market prices of debt securities decline when interest rates rise and increase when interest rates fall. The longer the time to a bond's maturity, the greater its interest rate risk.

Bank Obligations including bonds and certificates of deposit may be vulnerable to setbacks or panics in the banking industry. Banks and other financial institutions are greatly affected by interest rates and may be adversely affected by downturns in the U.S. and foreign economies or changes in banking regulations.

Municipal Bonds are debt obligations generally issued to obtain funds for various public purposes, including the construction of public facilities. Municipal bonds pay a lower rate of return than most other types of bonds. However, because of a municipal bond's tax-favored status, investors should compare the relative after-tax return to the after-tax return of other bonds, depending on the investor's tax bracket. Investing in municipal bonds carries the same general risks as investing in bonds in general. Those risks include interest rate risk, reinvestment risk, inflation risk, market risk, call or redemption risk, credit risk, and liquidity and valuation risk.

Options and other derivatives carry many unique risks, including time-sensitivity, and can result in the complete loss of principal. While covered call writing does provide a partial hedge to the stock against which the call is written, the hedge is limited to the amount of cash flow received when writing the option. When selling covered calls, there is a risk the underlying position may be called away at a price lower than the current market price.

Exchange Traded Funds prices may vary significantly from the Net Asset Value due to market conditions. Certain Exchange Traded Funds may not track underlying benchmarks as expected.

Investment Companies Risk. When a client invests in open end mutual funds or ETFs, the client indirectly bears its proportionate share of any fees and expenses payable directly by those funds. Therefore, the client will incur higher expenses, many of which may be duplicative. In addition, the client's overall portfolio may be affected by losses of an underlying fund and the level of risk arising from the investment practices of an underlying fund (such as the use of derivatives). ETFs are also subject to the following risks: (i) an ETF's shares may trade at a market price that is above or below their net asset value; (ii) the ETF may employ an investment strategy that utilizes high leverage ratios; or (iii) trading of an ETF's shares may be halted if the listing exchange's officials deem such action appropriate, the shares are de-listed from the exchange, or the activation of market-wide "circuit breakers" (which are tied to large decreases in stock prices) halts stock trading generally.

The Adviser has no control over the risks taken by the underlying funds in which the client invests.

Fees may be negotiable based on the relationship and specific needs or circumstances related to the client.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

As a fiduciary, our firm and its associate has a duty of utmost good faith to act solely in the best interests of each client. Our clients entrust us with their funds and personal information, which in turn places a high standard on our conduct and integrity. Our fiduciary duty is a core aspect of our Code of Ethics and represents the expected basis of all of our dealings. The firm also adheres to the Code of Ethics and Professional Responsibility adopted by the CFP® Board of Standards Inc., and accepts the obligation not only to comply with the mandates and requirements of all applicable laws and regulations but also to take responsibility to act in an ethical and professionally responsible manner in all professional services and activities.

Code of Ethics Description

This code does not attempt to identify all possible conflicts of interest, and literal compliance with each of its specific provisions will not shield associated persons from liability for personal trading or other conduct that violates a fiduciary duty to advisory clients. A summary of the Code of Ethics' Principles is outlined below.

- Integrity - Associated persons shall offer and provide professional services with integrity.
- Objectivity - Associated persons shall be objective in providing professional services to clients.
- Competence - Associated persons shall provide services to clients competently and maintain the necessary knowledge and skill to continue to do so in those areas in which they are engaged.

- Fairness - Associated persons shall perform professional services in a manner that is fair and reasonable to clients, principals, partners, and employers, and shall disclose conflict(s) of interest in providing such services.
- Confidentiality - Associated persons shall not disclose confidential client information without the specific consent of the client unless in response to proper legal process, or as required by law.
- Professionalism - Associated persons' conduct in all matter shall reflect credit of the profession.
- Diligence - Associated persons shall act diligently in providing professional services.

We periodically review and amend our Code of Ethics to ensure that it remains current, and we require all firm access persons to attest to their understanding of and adherence to the Code of Ethics at least annually. Our firm will provide of copy of its Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

Investment Recommendations Involving a Material Financial Interest and Conflicts of Interest

Neither our firm, its associate or any related person is authorized to recommend to a client, or effect a transaction for a client, involving any security in which our firm or a related person has a material financial interest, such as in the capacity as an underwriter, adviser to the issuer, etc.

Advisory Firm Purchase of Same Securities Recommended to Clients and Conflicts of Interest

Our firm and its "related persons" may buy or sell securities similar to, or different from, those we recommend to clients for their accounts. To reduce or eliminate certain conflicts of interest involving the firm or personal trading, our policy may require that we restrict or prohibit associate's transactions in specific reportable securities transactions. Any exceptions or trading pre-clearance must be approved by the firm principal in advance of the transaction in an account, and we maintain the required personal securities transaction records per regulation.

Trading Securities At/Around the Same Time as Client's Securities

From time to time, our firm or its "related persons" may buy or sell securities for themselves at or around the same time as clients. This may provide an opportunity for the advisor to buy or sell securities before or after recommending securities to clients resulting in the representative profiting off the recommendations she provides to clients. Such transaction may create a conflict of interest. The advisor will always transact client's transactions before her own when similar securities are being bought or sold.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Factors Used to Select Custodians and/or Broker-Dealers

Avea does not have any affiliation with Broker-Dealers. Specific custodian recommendations are made to client based on their need for such services. We recommend custodians based on the reputation and services provided by the firm.

1. Research and Other Soft-Dollar Benefits

We currently receive soft dollar benefits by nature of our relationship with TD Ameritrade Institutional, Division of TD Ameritrade, Inc., member FINRA/SIPC.

2. Brokerage for Client Referrals

We receive no referrals from a broker-dealer or third party in exchange for using that broker-dealer or third party.

3. Clients Directing Which Broker/Dealer/Custodian to Use

We do recommend a specific custodian for clients to use, however, clients may custody their assets at a custodian of their choice. Clients may also direct us to use a specific broker-dealer to execute transactions. By allowing clients to choose a specific custodian, we may be unable to achieve most favorable execution of client transaction and this may cost clients money over using a lower-cost custodian.

The Custodian and Brokers We Use

We may recommend that you use TD Ameritrade, Inc., member FINRA/SIPC/NFA; and/or other custodians, for brokerage and custodial services. Advisor participates in the TD Ameritrade Institutional program. TD Ameritrade Institutional is a division of TD Ameritrade, Inc. ("TD Ameritrade") member FINRA/SIPC. TD Ameritrade is an independent and unaffiliated SEC-registered broker dealer. TD Ameritrade offers to independent investment Advisors, services which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance, and settlement of transactions. Advisor receives benefits from TD Ameritrade through its participation in the program. (Please see the disclosure under Item 14 below.)

Third Party Management – Brokerage Practices

The Custodian and Brokers We Use

Avea does not maintain custody of your assets that we manage. Your assets must be maintained in an account at a "qualified custodian," generally a broker-dealer or bank.

Aggregating (Block) Trading for Multiple Client Accounts

Generally, we combine multiple orders for shares of the same securities purchased for advisory accounts we manage (this practice is commonly referred to as "block trading"). We will then distribute a portion of the shares to participating accounts in a fair and equitable manner. The distribution of the shares purchased is typically proportionate to the size of the account, but it is not based on account performance or the amount or structure of management fees. Subject to our discretion, regarding particular circumstances and market conditions, when we combine orders, each participating account pays an average price per share for all transactions and pays a proportionate share of all transaction costs. Accounts owned by our firm or persons associated with our firm may participate in block trading with your accounts; however, they will not be given preferential treatment.

Third-Party Money Managers used by Avea may implement block trading at their discretion. Their specific practices are further discussed in their ADV Part 2A, Item 12.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Founder and Chief Compliance Officer (CCO), Angela Furubotten-LaRosee, CFP® monitors investment returns and offers clients at least bi-annual reviews of the client's account and the progress toward achieving investment objectives. Written reports and/or online views are prepared for clients showing current status of accounts. Clients may request additional reviews at any time. An advisor will survey risk tolerance, timeline, and objectives in order to match ongoing suitability with the appropriate investment program. Accounts are reviewed frequently to confirm account activity when changes or updates are made. Personal circumstance of the client, such as proximity to retirement, death of a spouse, or loss of employment may trigger more frequent reviews.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Avea does not have a client referral monetary arrangement with current clients or outside agencies.

As disclosed under Item 12, above, Advisor participates in TD Ameritrade's Institutional customer program and Advisor may recommend TD Ameritrade to Clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between Advisor's participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its Clients, although Advisor receives economic benefits through its participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors. These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate Client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving Advisor participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to Client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from Client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for Client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to Advisor by third party vendors. TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by Advisor's related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit Advisor but may not benefit its Client accounts. These products or services may assist Advisor in managing and administering Client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help Advisor manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by Advisor or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, Advisor endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by Advisor or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the Advisor's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

Item 15: Custody

Avea does not accept custody of client funds except in the instance of withdrawing client fees.

For client accounts in which Avea directly debits their advisory fee:

- i. Avea will send a copy of its invoice to the custodian at the same time that it sends the client a copy.
- ii. The custodian will send at least quarterly statements to the client showing all disbursements for the account, including the amount of the advisory fee.
- iii. The client will provide written authorization to Avea, permitting them to be paid directly for their accounts held by the custodian.

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. We urge you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements or reports that we may provide to you. Our statements or reports may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

For those client accounts where we provide investment management services, we maintain discretion over client accounts with respect to which securities and the amount of securities to be bought and sold. Investment discretion is explained to clients in detail when an advisory relationship has commenced. At the start of the advisory relationship, the client will execute a Limited Power of Attorney, which will grant our firm discretion over the account. Additionally, the discretionary relationship will be outlined in the advisory contract and signed by the client.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

We do not vote Client proxies. Therefore, Clients maintain exclusive responsibility for: (1) voting proxies, and (2) acting on corporate actions pertaining to the Client's investment assets. The Client shall instruct the Client's qualified custodian to forward to the Client copies of all proxies and shareholder communications relating to the Client's investment assets. If the client would like our opinion on a particular proxy vote, they may contact us at the number listed on the cover of this brochure.

In most cases, you will receive proxy materials directly from the account custodian. However, in the event we were to receive any written or electronic proxy materials, we would forward them directly to you by mail, unless you have authorized our firm to contact you by electronic mail, in which case, we would forward you any electronic solicitation to vote proxies.

Item 18: Financial Information

Registered Investment Advisers are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about our financial condition. We have no financial commitment that impairs our ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and we have not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

We do not have custody of client funds or securities or require or solicit prepayment of more than $500 in fees per client six months or more in advance.

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold the designation. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients.

Currently, more than 71,000 individuals have obtained the CFP® certification in the United States. The following are the CFP® certification requirements as of 12/01/2013 and may not be the qualifications in place when the credential is obtained:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning areas that CFP® Board’s studies have determined necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a bachelor’s degree from regionally accredited United States college or university. CFP® Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning and estate planning.
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination, administered in 10 hours over a two-day period, includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances.
- Experience –Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2000 hours per year); and

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:
